CHILD KILLED BY A BLOW

ATTACKED BY A HATLESS MAN

WHEN GOING HOME FROM SCHOOL. The Assault Apparently Motiveless-Patrick Goggins, a Caulker, Who Is Accused of Killing Little Mary Bryan, Nays Ro Does Not Remember Striking Her.

Mary E. Bryan, a 12-year-old schoolgiri, was the victim of an apparently motiveless assault Monday afternoon almost in front of her own house in Eighteenth street. She died of its effects yesterday morning. Patrick Goggins of 211 East Forty-first street is confined in Yorkviile prison, charged with murder.

Mary Bryan, or Mamie as she was called, was the daughter of Mrs. John C. Bryan, and lived with her mother and three maiden aunts of her mother, the Misses Reilly, at 315 East Eighteenth street. She was small for her age and far from robust, but, according to all accounts, was very pretty. She had a fair skin, with pink checks, large Irish gray eyes, with dark eyebrows and lashes, and great masses of golden

She was a precocious child. When her little contemporaries were beginning to learn their letters she could already read and write. She read not only baby books, but books far beyond her years. She would talk of things that rarely come into childish minds, and every now and then she would startle people with some quaint saying.

Mary went to the parochial school of the R. C.

Church of the Epiphany at Twenty-first street and Second avenue. Monday was the first day of school, and Mary was started off by her mother early in the morning in new clothes from tip to toe. She wore a little white musiin dress, with a broad red sash, a scarlet jacket, dress, with a broad red sash, a scarlet jacket, scarlet stockings and shoes, and a little scarlet cap perched on her golden head.

School was out at 3 o'clock. Mary lingered with the Sisters for a few minutes, and then, with another girl. Rosie Flynn, who lives at 403 East Seventeenth street, she set out for home. They loitered and joined some more children on the way. At Eighteenth street and Second avenue the children separated and Mary and Rosie started down Eighteenth street. They had just got a few doors from the avenue when they saw a man coming toward them. They probably would not have noticed him had he not been hetless. He came shuffling along in an aimless fashion, until he got up to the two children.

an almiess randon, dath he give up which we children.

Then, without a word, he cienched his right fist and struck Mary a fearful blow under the right jaw. The child was fairly lifted off of her feet. She fell to the flagging on her head with great force, and lay there motionless, the blood flowing from her nose, mouth, and ears, and from a wound in her cheek, through which a teach had out. coth had cut. Rosie Flynn ran away screaming, and three

A Mrs. Murray, who lives at 311 East Eighteenth street, in front of which Mary was truck, heard the noise made when the child's head 'truck the sidewalk. She rushed out of the bouse to where the little girl lay. She knew the child well. Picking the lime little body up in her arms, she carried it into the child's home, we doors away, and Dr. Swan, who lives next loor, was summoned.

"That brute struck that litric child."
Mr. Wichmann turned around and saw the child lying in the street, with two or three children about her. Further down the street he saw a bareheaded man walking slowly along. "Did you see that man hit the girl?" he asked his informant.

West, "West,"
"West, I'll see that he is locked up," said Mr.
West, and he started after the hatless man without waiting to see how badly the child was hurt. The child's assailant walked along slowly and Mr. Wichman followed him, intending to turn him over to the first policeman he saw. When the man sat down in the park Mr.
Wichmann called Park Policeman Kassing and had him arrested. The man seemed stupid and dazed as, if under the influence of a drug, and offered no resistance. He was taken to the last Twenty-second street station. There he said he

Three teeth were knocked out, and lers were driven through her cheek. Dr. ow notified Coroner Hoeber of the case in the rning, and in the afternoon Coroner's Physin Schultz performed an autopsy. He found it the skull had not been fractured by the ito the sidewalk, as Dr. Snow had thought, that the concussion had broughtion hemhages of the brain that were the direct cause leath.

loggins was arraigned yesterday morning in Yorkville Police Court before Magistrate Mrs. Bryan and Mr. Wiehmann appeared in court. Neither of them had seen the assault, and Goggins declared that he remembered noth-ing about it. Magistrate Flammer committed could seeiner of them had seen the assault, and Gogins declared that he remembered nothing about it. Magistrate Flammer committed him without ball until to-morrow afternoon at 3 o'clock. In the mean time the police will try to find the man who saw Goggins strike the child and called Mr. Wiehmann's attention.

NEVER SWORE UNTIL HE WAS A COP.

Policeman Hughes at His Trial Also Says He Neither Drinks nor Smokes. Patrolman John J. Hughes of the West Twentieth street station was tried before Commissioner Andrews at Headquarters yesterday for using profane language. The complaint was made by Roundsman Frederick G. Carson. The roundsman said that on Aug. 29 an unusual noise was heard in the dormitory of the station house, and he went up stairs to see what the trouble was. He found Policeman Hughes talking loudy and ordered him to stop. According to the roundsman Hughes replied as follows:

"I don't give a damn for you. You can make a complaint against the whole lot. They are a let of damned old women, any way."

Several patrollene corroborated the roundsman's story. Hughes denied the charges. He told the Commissioner that several pollecunen were smoking in the dormitory on the day in question, and he wanted to open the shutters to let the smoke out. The others objected, and there was some loud talk about it.

"I do not drink, chew, or smoke," said Hughes, "and I never used profane language Saill I became a pollecunan."

Commissioner Andrews advised him to stop using it if he wished to continue a polleman.

The Rosedate-Oregon Collision. It was a case of "Whistle, whistle; who blew the whistle?" before the United States inspectors of steam vessels yesterday when the collision between the Bridgeport boat Rosedale and ferryboat Oregon, which occurred Sept. 3, came no for investigation. Capt. Weatherway of the for investigation. Capt. Weather was a considered with the original property of the signals, to which the Oregon had made no sponse. Capt. Edward G. Calleway of the regon swore that no such whisties were blown and to his auricular cognizance. Each Origin swore that no such whistes were blown, at least not to his auricular cognizance. Each of these Captains had phalanxes of sailors, tug-best men, and others to corroborate their testimony. Capt. Fairchild and Mr. Barrett, the local steamboat inspectors, were nonplussed, and so they reserved decision.

ROBBERT ON THE NEW YORK.

A Steward and a Sallorman Locked Up for Larceny from Baggage, When the American line steamer New York, which arrived at this port from Southampton resterday morning, got to her wharf two of the policemen detailed there were called upon by the ship's officers to arrest two men aboard the vessel. These men were Patrick Moran, 25 years old, a sallor, who says he lives at 315 West Forty-first street, and William Hyde, 26 years old, a steward, who lives on Chauncy road, Southampton, England. The men were ar-raigned before Commissioner Alexander in the Federal building. Formal complaint against them was made by Chief Officer Charles J. Rogers, who accused them of taking a case of surgical instruments, the property of some person unknown, and three broaches, two rings, and other articles of value, the property of J. Darling. They were held in $2,500 ball each for an examination to-day at 11 A. M. Moran went out with the ship on her eastward voyage as a fireman, but shipped as a sailor for the return voyage. The ship left Southampton on Tuesday of last week. On Friday Moran was reported as missing, and a search was made was reported as missing, and a search was made for him, and when the searchers gut to the part of the hold where the "not wanted" baggage was stored, they found that it had been broken into, and inside they found Moran. As nearly as could be learnest yesterday Moran had broken open several trunks or long portmanteaus which belonged to members of the Australian cricket team, and had taken things from them. He had a suit of clothing belonging to one of the passengers, and the articles enumerated as the property of Mr. Darling, who is a member of the team, Moran was taken before Capt. Passow and questloned. Then he said he had as an accomplice Steward Hyde. Hyde, he said, had suggested the robbery, and was to share its proceeds and to keep him supplied with food. He complained that Hyde had not kept his agreement about the food, and that he had been forced to eat dried currants which he found among the cargo, Hyde dealed Moran's story entirely. He has been in the service of the company for eight years, and his honesty has never been questioned before.

On Monday morning George Candy, one of the deck stewards, was reported missing. A thorough search was made, but no trace of him could be found, and he is supposed to have jumped overboard.

A concert was given in the saloon that evening at $30 for the benefit of Candy's widow and orphans at which the Hon. J. B. Forsker and the Hon. James Smith, Jr., Senator from New Jersey, precided. The sum of $517 was netted and will be handed over to Mrs. Candy when the New York returns to Southampton. Candy was 27 years of age and resided at Southampton. for him, and when the searchers gut to the part

SHERIFF LOSES ROSENHAM.

Said to Himself that Bondsmen and Cash

There was trouble over the estate of Sarah V. Rosenham in the Surrogate's Court, and some had failed to distribute about $3,000. He was directed by a decree of the Surrogate, after an accounting last June, to turn over $3,000 to those entitled to the money. He failed to comply with the order of the Court, and an attachment against his person was issued and confided to Sheriff Damsen.

In the attachment the Sheriff was directed to hold the man until further order of the Court a man calling himself James Montgomery, or to require two sureties who should qualify alias Joy. Mills, and Brown, who is charged in the sum of $500 each for Rosenbam's appearance when wanted. The Sheriff accepted a proposition of Rosenham, when he got him, to turn over $500 in cash and to let the man go. There was no provision in the attachment for cash ball.

up before Surrogate Fitzgerald yesterday, the said he hadn't the man, but he had the $500. His counsel, Lawyer Stone, offered the $500 to the Surrogate, who rejected it with surprise. There was no response when the name of Rosenham was called out several times in court at the ioniance of the Sheriff, and the Surrogate said the money would have to be deposited with the City Chamberlain.

Porte V. Ransom, in behalf of the estate, said that the Sheriff had violated the order of the Court, and had no right to accept the $500 in lieu of the sureties in such a case.

Lawyer Stone tried to explain that the Sheriff had considered the cash enough, and that the sureties would not have been liable for a greater sum. said he hadn't the man, but he had the $500.

that the sureties would not have been liable for a greater sum.

"It has been decided," said the Surrogate, "that the Sheriff cannot take cash in lieu of aureties in such a case. He has not obeyed the order of the Court."

Mr. Ransom said that he had been notified that Rosenham might jomp his ball, and that he had notified the Sheriff last Friday that the man had given no ball in view of the law, and it was the duty of the Sheriff to arrest him again, remardless of the deposit of $500. The deputies of the Sheriff, said Mr. Ransom, have been searching in vain for Rosenham since last Friday.

"We shall hold the Sheriff liable for all the money due the estate, less the $500," said the lawyer.

The Surrogate said he would look into the The Surrogate said he would look into the papers before deciding what he would do about the matter.

The Desperado and His Pal, Doe Panther Shot Bead from Ambush.

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., Sept. 15 .- Bart Thrasher, the notorious Bibb county outlaw, and his pal, Doc Panther, who were killed last night by Deputy Sheriffs Henry Cole and James Ball of this city near Horse Creek, had been running an illicit whiskey still in the mountains, eight miles from Horse Creek. Armed with shotguns and Winohester rifles, Cole and Ball se-creted themselves in the bushes near a path along which they expected the outlaws to pass. When the desperadoes approached, Cole directed his fire at Thrasher and Ball shot at Panther. As soon as the officers fired both outlaws fell, but Thrasher returned the fire as he lay dying on the ground, without effect. Panther was instantly killed. A large lot of counterfeit money was found on the bodies of both.

Thrasher was charged with killing five men. He escaps: from Pratt Mines penitentiary three times, twice by "dynamiting" his way out and once by overpowering the guards. His last crime occurred three weeks ago, when he and Panther walked into the town of Biocton and deliberately shot to death Deputy Sheriff Griffin Bass because the latter was a member of the Sheriff's posse that killed Elista Thrasher, a brother of the outlaw. Deputy Cole was a member of the same posse, and Thrasher had sworn to take his life as well as those of Cole's associates. along which they expected the outlaws to pass.

LODGED HER HUSBAND IN LUDIOW Mrs. William Marshall Campbell Callen-der's Suit for Divorce.

William Marshall Campbell Callender was arrested yesterday at 140 East Thirt'eth street by Deputy Sheriff Lipsky on an order signed by Justice Beckman in a suit brought by his wife, Adelina Louisa, for an absolute divorce. The plaintiff charges that her husband has been guilty of improper conduct at the Hotel St. George, Brooklyn, with a woman known as Ella Clark and as Ella Johnson. In an affidavit filed with the papers Mrs. Callender says that she has learned from the clerks and employees of the hotel that her husband and Ella Clark occupied a suite of rooms at the hotel and ate together and were heard in the halls of the hotel calling each other "dear," "darling," "pet," &c. Mrs. Callender also says that her husband is a man of ability and inventive genius, and is about to seil a patent for $10,000, and to leave the State for Europe or Colorado. During the past two years, she adders, her husband has not given her any money except 20 cents and 50 cents at a time. It was upon the allegation that he was about to leave the jurisdiction of the court that the order for his arrest was issued. Callender failed to furnish $1,500 ball and was sent to Ludiow street jail. has learned from the clerks and employees of Chapel Attendance at Trinity College. HARTFORD, Conn., Sept. 15 .- Compulsory evening chapel has been abolished at Trinity, and instead of having the option whether they will attend the morning or evening exercises the students this year will have to go to morning chapel. Another change in the chapel rules which is very agreeable to the men is the absence of afternoon service on Sunday from 5 to 0. The only service on that day will be from 0 to 10 and compulsory.

GOT NEARLY 5,500 STAMPS. An American Word-puzzle Swindler Arrested in Liverpool. Capt. O'Brien of the Detective Bureau was notified yesterday of the arrest in Liverpool of with fraud. The prisoner is suspected of having percetrated a number of swindles in this city. For some time past the following advertisement has appeared in several London papers, chiefly in those of a religious character:

"Desiring to better advertise the 'Overland' cycles, we will give away ten of our best £20 cycles free, one to each of ten persons sending great Damsen, with a show of legal craftiness, in the most words made from the letters in the word 'Overland.' It costs you nothing to try. Send your list at once, enclosing stamp, to - & Co., South John street, Liverpool." The local police had their attention drawn to the matter, and the detectives, suspecting that something was wrong, arrested the receiver of the communications, who proved to be Mont-gomery. The prisoner's office in Liverpool was found to be merely a receptacle for letters. Five thousand five hundred letters, most of which contained stamps, that had been received from all parts of the country, were seized.

stamps, sent to each correspondent the following:

Dear Six: Being employed in the office of giving the name in the advertisement; I have succeeded in making a corp of their own complete list of all the wirds to be made from "Oversand." You haked many of the words as I am unable to use it mixed on account of my employment here. I will maily on the list on receipt of thirty shittings. You can hereby make corrain of one of the prize cycles. Yours in condenses.

The English police say that had they not arrested Montgomery so soon he would, by means of this circular, have obtained hundreds of pounds within a few days. The prisoner said that he came from the United States and that he had lived in Indianapoils. In his possession was found a circular offering planes free, one to each of twenty persons sending in the largest lists of words made from the letters.

the largest lists of words made from the letters forming the two words, "Carleton piano." The circular purported to be issued by the Carleton Piano Company of 77 Fifth avenue, New York city.

Capt. O'Brien is investigating the man's career here and will communicate with the Liverpool police when his history is obtained.

FREE ALCOHOL IN ARTS.

Report of the Expert Sent Abroad to In-MERIDEN, Conn., Sept. 15,-Soon after the close of the last session of Congress the joint committee of the two Houses, of which Senator Platt of Connecticut is Chairman, created by joint resolution to investigate all matters relating to thouse of alcohol in manufactures and the arts free of tax found it necessary, as the basis of investigation in this country, to obtain complete and specific information as to the laws in foreign countries which permit the use of alcohol for such purposes without tax, and the methods of administering such laws so as to prevent frauds on the revenue.

Henry Dalley Jr., of New York, who was appointed by the committee to make such investigation, has just returned from abroad, having thoroughly examined the operation of such laws in England. Belgium, Germany, Switzerland, and other countries, and secured a mass of detailed information, which is now being digested and prepared by Sciator Platt, with Mr. Dalley and experts of the Finance Committee, for publication.

The committee is also engaged in assertaining the volume of alcohol used in manufactures and the arts in this country, and in gathering information as to such use by various trades. Later they will meet to hear oral testimony of experts and others bearing upon the subject. The investigations already made show that foreign laws upon this subject are administered in a way which practically prevents fraud, and it is believed that such laws can also be framed and administered in the United States. alcohol for such purposes without tax, and the
